HELLO FRIEND

We're Glo & Dave

At Bellamy Productions, we believe in one simple truth:

Love recognizes love.

For us, photography is about connection. Every couple has a story worth preserving, and every wedding deserves to be remembered with honesty, intention, and heart.

Outside of elopements, we're raising our two daughters, Bella and Fae, exploring the North Carolina coast, spending time outdoors, and dreaming up our next adventure together. We're the kind of people who appreciate slow mornings, meaningful conversations, and the beauty found in everyday moments.

Those little moments are what inspire the way we photograph.

While everyone is watching for the first kiss or the grand exit, we're also noticing the gentle hand squeeze before the ceremony, a proud parent's tearful smile, your grandparents holding hands during dinner, or the quiet glance you share when no one else is looking.

Those are the moments that tell the real story.
